ANNEXURE-IV

BEST PRACTICE I

Poor Students Fund

One of the best practices that resulted in improvement of student's strength is 'Poor Students Fund'.

GOALS:

- To involve the entire faculty as a social responsibility to contribute to support socially and economically backward students.
- To reach the noble objectives of the founding fathers of the institution to serve the disadvantage sections of the society.
- To improve students strength of the institution.

CONTEXT:

This best practice is introduced to meet the challenges from the corporate educational organizations luring the students by providing petty incentives which resulted adversely on the admissions of the institutions like ours.

THE PRACTICE:

Though this practice was in vogue for quite some time, it is redesigned and systematically organized to cater to the best needs of the students with an aim to bring out the best product out of them. For this purpose it was resolved to contribute Rs. 10000/- by each member of the faculty per annum to constitute the fund. Since this academic year, to encourage girl child education especially from socially and economically backward classes, the total establishment expenditure which amounts to Rs. 2500/- for each girl student staying in the Strock Hall, the girls college attached hostels is totally meted out from the fund, besides regular tuition and other fees. The fund also contributes Rs. 1000/- to each college attached boys hostel resident student towards establishment charges besides the regular tuition and other fees.

EVIDENCE OF SUCCESS:

The constitution of Poor Students Fund yielded unprecedented results which contributed to the growth of the Institution, particularly with regard to improvement of admissions in all streams.

- Faculty developed personal attachment to the beneficiaries of this fund to support them in various exigencies and their personal needs.
- Students also developed personal commitment and regard to the institution and to the staff as well.
- Class attendance is remarkably improved.
- Infrastructure and other academic tools are augmented. Development of loyalty to the Institution and commitment to the profession and effective performance is reflected in the faculty.
- Collective responsibility and the feeling of fraternity are manifested in all the Faculty.
- The Success of the system resulted in turning out academic zeal, personality development and performance competency of the students.
- Progressive increase in University examination results, improved academic performance.

PROBLEMS ENCOUNTERED:

This practice is voluntarily taken up by the entire faculty as a divine obligation and moral responsibility. The faculty feels proud in supporting economically backward students. The practices is successful and in implementing this no problems are encountered besides, staff is looking forward to extent further financial support to the poor students not only in payment of fee but in other dimensions also.

ANNEXURE-VI

BEST PRACTICE I

BEST TEACHER AND BEST NON-TEACHING AWARD

OBJECTIVES OF THE PRACTICE:

- To create healthy competition among Teaching Staff and among the Non teaching Staff.
- To motivate the Teaching Staff and among the Non teaching Staff.
- In the College to render their services more efficiently and effectively.
- To explore the work potential of the employees at its plentiful.
- To improve work culture in the system.

THE CONTEXT:

Human resource is an important aspect of any organization. In fact organization can succeed with the proper management and optimum utilization of the human resources it has. In the established bureaucracy we hardly witness place for incentives and motivation for the sincere and hard-working employees. As a matter of fact, teachers and the supporting staff, creative and proactive act as an agent to elevate the academic institution. Many times the efficient and sincere employees work in tune with the prevailing bureaucracy parameters and hesitate to go beyond. Under such circumstances such employees need to be motivated to showcase their work skill, work potential etc to raise the standards of the university. This scheme is a 'spur' of motivation for the teachers and other support staff to use the human resources in them optimally. This initiative of the university is definitely a new trend in the official functioning and thereby university has set an example for the other universities and institutions to follow the same. However it is a matter of great challenge to design and formulate a performance appraisal scale for this award working in the diversified work places especially when the assignments are defined by legislations

THE PRACTICE:

The employees in the college are broadly classified into two categories: teaching and nonteaching.

1. Best Teacher Award for Teaching Staff
2. Best Non-Teaching Staff Award for Non-teaching member.

The applications in the prescribed format for these awards are invited every year from the aspirants. After the close scrutiny by a committee constituted for the purpose, the committee shortlist the names for each award in tune with the prescribed parameters and finally the suitable candidates in each category has been selected for the award.

I thank all the guests, well-wishers and friends who are present here or have sent their greetings and good wishes.

This institution has been instrumental in shaping my character and personality even to this day, and I am greatly indebted to my Alma Mater. My tenure is brief but I have much to do for the welfare of the students who hail from economically backward sections of the society and development of this great institution. I pray to God Almighty seeking his wisdom and guidance and strength in fulfilling his will for this monumental institution.

Respectfully submitted by, (M. EMMANUEL SREE VIJAYA RAJ)
